Hello, Winter!

Winter in New England typically arrives without warning as cold, dry air rushes in and the days become shorter.

It's cold, but you can't help but admire the scenic beauty New England offers through the winter months. The glimmer of snow and chill in the air compliments its classic charm.

With mountainous landscapes and coastal areas, New England is a prime destination for outdoor winter sports. Hit the slopes, take up snow shoeing, or go ice skating at a local outdoor rink. If you aren't keen on athletics, enjoy the natural scenic beauty and ice sculptures on display across the region. Or, cozy up with a hot cup of cocoa in one of the charming bed-and-breakfasts nestled in the heart of a historic New England town. It's picture perfect.

Winter in New England is notoriously unpredictable. You might experience your first "nor'easter" one day followed by blue sky and sunshine the next. Temperatures typically range between a high of 45 degrees (F) and a bitter low of 0 degrees and below—B-r-r-r!

Locals know how to dress for such extreme weather patterns. When you're visiting New England, remember to:

- Dress in layers
- Bring warm winter clothing
- Pack waterproof layers
- Be prepared for storm conditions

Don't be discouraged by fluctuating weather; With so much to see and do amidst New England's majestic winter beauty, you'll hardly mind.

We've created this packing list to help you pack for your winter visit to New England.

Hi! I'm Jackie Gately from Enjoy Travel Life.

I'm a seasoned traveler writer and empty-nester embarking on new adventures. I love photography, travel blogging, gardening, and designing creative travel products over at Enjoy Travel Life.

Some of my favorite things include

- Going off the beaten path
- The beauty of my New England home in all seasons
- Enjoying local, wholesome flavors and regional drinks
- Chasing the sunset with my camera.

It's experiential learning at it's best, and I thrive on it.

I welcome you to follow my travels at enjoytravellife.com as well as on social media.
